

CooperVision®
Live Brightly.®

209 High Point Drive
Victor, New York 14564
800.341.2020

September 12, 2017

To Our Valued Eyecare Partners:

Recently, some of you have asked if CooperVision is supplying contact lenses to Hubble, the direct-to-consumer startup. We have not been, nor are we currently involved in any collaboration with that company. To the best of our knowledge, Hubble has contracted with St. Shine, a Taiwanese manufacturer, to produce its lenses. You can read more on its website (<https://www.hubblecontacts.com/pages/contacts>).

We always appreciate hearing from partners, even if it's to dispel marketplace rumors. Like you, we remain committed to providing the best possible care and vision for wearers. This is dependent on eye care professionals being at the center of the equation, with contact lens selection benefitting from your extensive training and experience.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read 'Jerry Warner', written in a cursive, flowing style.

Jerry Warner
President, Americas
CooperVision, Inc.